

United Technologies Flight Tour, May 19

On May 19, 2009, members of the Royal Charter Composite Squadron ground school visited the United Technologies Flight Department. Here, they received an introduction of UTFlight by Chief Pilot Kenneth Kuhrt, who was a pilot of United Technologies for over 30 years. After the brief talk and discussion of UTFlight, the cadets were taken to the corporate hangar where they were able to view a Falcon jet, a Gulfstream IV, S-72 and S-92 helicopters. Cadets were able to go inside the aircraft along with sitting in the cockpit. They also gained knowledge of the jets as well as their uses, status and how they are used by UTFlight. At the end of the tour, all questions from the cadets were answered by Mr. Kuhrt and they thanked him for a wonderful tour. Finally, all cadets returned back to Royal just in time to meet their parents and head home.
